

Construction How HSS Can Help

There is no doubt that construction is a competitive business, one where contractors are always under pressure to 'build it better, faster and cheaper.'

And it comes as no surprise that construction companies put heavy demands on their supply partners: they have to, in order to meet their customers' requirements.

It's good to know, in this business arena, that there is one hire company the construction industry can count on to understand its needs and respond with speed, flexibility and quality.

At HSS, we're proud of our reputation as the provider of choice for an unrivalled range of tools, plant and equipment. But over the years, we've grown to be much more than just a hire company. Increasingly, our customers know that we can also help with advice, training, product sourcing and asset management, as well as delivery and collection.

Mission-critical service The provision of safe and effective equipment, onsite when you need it, is critical to the success of your business. Partnering with HSS means you can focus on your core activities and trust us to deliver the support you need where you need it.

Tightly programmed construction projects have little scope for accommodating tool failure or delay in equipment provision. That's why we clean and test everything we hire to ensure it is in ready-to-use condition before it leaves our depot. And with our vast stocks and computer-based tracking system you can be sure we will always have the right products available at the right time.

Underpinning everything we do is a total commitment to health & safety. You can be confident that all our products have been quality checked before dispatch. In addition, our in-house experts can assist with advice on all current regulations covering working at height, hand-arm vibration and other relevant legislation.

Together we'll keep your business working.
